Dominican Moves Forward in the Santa Cruz Community

As we all know, it's always a great occasion when we exceed our goals. Thus, we are extremely proud to report that we are ending our fiscal year 20 percent over our fundraising goal, with $2.8 million distributed to Dominican Hospital. Raising the funds is certainly one challenge; spending the funds most effectively and with the greatest impact is another. The Foundation has met both these challenges spectacularly by providing the hospital with new, cutting-edge technology and equipment, critical programs, and vital capital improvements—all with a concerted focus on improving patient care.

As we significantly improved our imaging capacity at the hospital with new equipment, we also added an exciting program called Dare to C.A.R.E., brought to us by Bilal Shafi, MD, cardiothoracic surgeon. Designed to improve heart health through early detection and prevention, the program involves arterial screenings via ultrasound. Thanks to the Foundation's support, Dominican is the only hospital on the West Coast to offer this screening. We are very proud to have helped put it in place and offer it for free. In other good news, our cancer survivorship program has officially launched with a new partnership between therapy and oncology, helping cancer survivors regain their physical and emotional health. Again, this is possible only because of private donations to Dominican's Foundation.

As we celebrate the hospital's 75th anniversary in a big way, we will be recognizing our valued donors at Chaminade on Sept. 14 instead of at our traditional, midsummer event. And speaking of diamond anniversaries, that theme will bring sparkle to our fall gala as we find fun ways to think of diamonds. (Even baseball, perhaps?)

And, with 88 percent of the funds raised for Phase I of the Healing Courtyards Initiative, we will celebrate the groundbreaking for the Central Surgery Waiting Area, Courtyard, Terrace, and Rehabilitation Gardens in the fall of this year.

As you can see, we are not standing still; nor is there ever a time to tread lightly when it comes to excellent health care at Dominican. We are tackling issues, bringing in resources, and working hard to ensure that you, your family, and your friends are proud of Dominican Hospital and the incredible "big city" medical resources available in our own small community.

So thank you for working with and beside us to achieve these goals. We will take but a moment to celebrate before we move on to new and important goals. Please join us in any capacity that you can. After all, this is our community hospital.

Enjoy the summer, and be on the alert for what is happening next at this very special medical facility staffed with very talented caregivers.

With gratitude,

Ted Burke

Don Jackson Supports Nonprofits That Perform Well

The most important thing I have learned while serving on a hospital foundation board in the Central Valley for more than 30 years: Hospitals have a never-ending need for improvements to remain on the cutting edge of medicine. My first assignment as a new member of the Dominican Hospital Foundation Board of Directors was to serve on the task force that reviewed the hospital's needs and prioritized the top 10 items that would provide the greatest benefit to the residents of Santa Cruz County. I have observed the progress made and the addition of new priorities to meet the medical needs of the community. It is an ongoing process and requires our support.

Create Your Own Dominican Legacy

I have always paid special attention to how well the charitable organizations I have been involved with are run. I observe their ability to raise and manage money, to invest carefully, and spend wisely. Dominican has met my requirements for outstanding performance, which is why I have chosen to leave a legacy gift to the Dominican Hospital Foundation through my trust to help future generations, while continuing to support Dominican on an annual basis for its current needs. I have shared this plan with my family, and they recognize the importance of enabling Dominican to offer the most advanced equipment and programs so that the highest level of care is provided right here in our community.

There Are Many Ways to Give—No Amount Is Too Small

Dominican Hospital Foundation Welcomes New Board Members

The Foundation has welcomed five new members to the Board of Directors, who began their term on July 1, 2016. “We are thrilled and honored to have such a dedicated group of individuals with a sincere interest in the mission of Dominican Hospital. With this expansion of our board, we will continue to provide the very best health care for all within our community,” says Jon Sisk, chair of the Nominating Committee, Dominican Hospital Foundation.

Gary Benito

Gary Benito was born and raised in Santa Cruz. He is a past member of the Board of Directors at Dominican Hospital Foundation and a current member of the Santa Cruz Host Lions, the Santa Cruz Elks Lodge, Marconi Club, and the Italian Catholic Federation. After graduating from high school, he began working for his father in their family business, Norman’s Family Chapel. Benito later attended Cypress Junior College and graduated with a degree in mortuary science. He resumed his position in his family’s business, eventually becoming manager. In 1999, Benito formed a partnership with Vince Azzaro and purchased Chapel of the Four Seasons, from which they began their business. He is active in a number of civic, fraternal, and social organizations. Benito and his family have been longtime major donors and supporters of the Dominican Hospital Foundation. He is married to Valerie Marietti Benito and has a daughter, Emily.

Dr. Magdy Ismail

Magdy Ismail, MD, is a clinical associate professor in the Department of Neonatology at Stanford and the medical director of the Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) at Dominican Hospital. He graduated from University of Cairo before obtaining a master’s degree in public health with a focus on maternal and child health at the University of California, Berkeley in 1982. He completed residency at the State University of New York at Stony Brook, and then completed his Neonatal and Perinatal Medicine Fellowship at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada, in 1991. Dr. Ismail worked as a neonatologist in Southern California until 1999, at which point he joined Stanford University’s School of Medicine Division of Neonatology. In 2001, he came to Santa Cruz to start Dominican’s Level III NICU in association with Lucile Packard Children’s Hospital Stanford. Dr. Ismail is actively involved with the Dominican Hospital Foundation by serving on the Medical Philanthropy

Committee and participating in donor tours. Dr. Ismail enjoys the arts and design, and competes in tennis, soccer, and table tennis.

Ken Morena

Ken Morena was born and raised in San Francisco. In the 1960s, he worked for Safeway within the produce buying department, then went on to become regional buying manager. In 1976, he was recruited by Driscoll's, where he made significant contributions by traveling globally to develop projects and seek out new business opportunities. In 1999, after serving as president and general manager for Driscoll's, Morena retired, although he continued working on special projects for the CEO until 2014. Currently, Morena is an active member of the Healing Courtyards Committee, and his involvement has resulted in several major gifts. Morena spends his free time with his family—Velma, his wife of 57 years, and their two children, four grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Dr. Randall Nacamuli

Randall Nacamuli, MD, is a plastic and reconstructive surgeon and has been serving Santa Cruz County for nine years. Originally from Marin County, he received his medical degree from Temple University School of Medicine. Prior to completing his residency in plastic surgery at Oregon Health & Science University, Dr. Nacamuli completed an American College of Surgeons research fellowship at Stanford University. His clinical interests include hand surgery, reconstruction of complex wounds, and breast reconstruction. He also has active leadership roles in Dignity Health Medical Group - Dominican and at Dominican Hospital, where he is vice chief of staff.

Pam Santacroce

Pam Santacroce has been a member of the Dominican Hospital Foundation and Dominican Hospital boards in the past. She was one of the founding committee members of the Holidays d'Eleganz and Funding and Grants committees. Santacroce is a business owner and operated a property management company with her late husband, Nello. Apart from business acumen, Santacroce brings years of expertise in the health care industry—she worked as a nurse and later as a hospital administrator. Santacroce has also served on the board of Santa Clara University and has traveled all over the world.

Health Careers Academy Graduates Its Third Class

The academy helps students choose a career path in health care

The Health Careers Academy, created in partnership with Dominican Hospital and Cabrillo College, has recently graduated a third cohort of students. The program offers students a pathway into health care and includes a class at Cabrillo, an externship at Dominican supporting several departments, and a seminar with medical professionals.

The program is made possible by the Pteron Society, a physicians' giving circle of the Foundation. "I was pleased to see the physicians' funding being put to such good use," says Greg Whitley, MD, chief of staff at Dominican Hospital.

"This experience has truly impacted my life in a way I never knew was possible," says Jacquelyn Simmons, one of this year's graduates. "I hope this program continues so more students can learn and become inspired to follow their dreams, even when times are difficult."

Phase II of the Healing Courtyards Initiative Launches

The Family and Newborn Care Courtyard and the Meditation Garden promise to bring peace and joy to patients, families, and Dominican Hospital employees

With 88 percent of the funds raised for Phase I of the Healing Courtyards Initiative, the fundraising for Phase II: The Family and Newborn Care Courtyard and the Meditation Garden, is well underway. Recently, Dominican's strong partnership with Lucile Packard Children's Hospital Stanford in the Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) resulted in a $125,000 gift for the Family and Newborn Care Courtyard.

"Our work with Dominican Hospital in the NICU has been a wonderful partnership for many years, and we see the Family and Newborn Care Courtyard as an essential component in that effort," says Kim Roberts, chief strategy officer, Stanford Children's Health. "It reflects the belief of Stanford Children's Health and those of founder Lucile Salter Packard in the power of nature to heal and bring joy to new parents and babies. We look forward to many more years ahead as we continue working together with Dominican."

The Family and Newborn Care Courtyard, designed with the help of nurses from the NICU and the Labor and Delivery Unit, will provide much needed outdoor access for the new parents in the birthing center.

"The babies in the NICU may have to stay here for extended periods of time, sometimes for many weeks," says Ned McNamara, MD, Stanford neonatologist. "Being able to offer the visiting families a restful outdoor space at this stressful time in their life will be invaluable."

Dr. McNamara also made a gift to the Healing Courtyards Initiative, naming a bench in memory of his late wife.

The Meditation Garden allows patients and families, physicians, nurses, and staff to focus on meditation and mindfulness to relieve stress and restore spirits. "Dominican Hospital employees and the physicians who work here are our most important asset, and it is they who make this hospital exceptional," says Nanette Mickiewicz, MD, president of Dominican Hospital. "It is therefore critical we provide an environment in which our caregivers can thrive."

Dominican Employees Share Their Reasons for Giving

The Family and Newborn Care Courtyard was the focus of this year's Employee Giving Campaign. Some of the sentiments expressed are below.

iGive because:

I want to work at a hospital with beautiful garden and more outdoor areas for everyone to enjoy.

iGive because:

Dominican Hospital works hard to give to our patients. The healing courtyard will be a wonderful place for patients + families to spend time.

iGive because:

I want to give back to my community and I believe the healing courtyard will help many.

iGive because:

I believe in what we do!

iGive because:

I love my job and am always willing to help if able :)

iGive because:

I want to continue to be a contributor to the well being of this vital institution.

iGive because:

I am able to give + for me giving + receiving are the same

The Foundation had the opportunity to recognize the generosity and commitment of Dominican employee donors and volunteers at an event held at the Colligan Theater on May 4. After a wine and dessert reception, guests enjoyed a dress rehearsal of Talley's Folly.

Dominican Employees Hit Campaign Goal

Dominican's employees celebrate the hospital's 75th anniversary with generous donations

In honor of the 75th anniversary of Dominican Hospital, the 2016 Employee Giving Campaign surpassed its goal to recruit 75 new employee donors. Astoundingly, more than 520 employees donated to the Family and Newborn Care Courtyard, Phase II of the Healing Courtyards Initiative.

The campaign is run each year by the Employee Giving Committee and an additional 32 employees as Department Champions. The Champions each volunteered to spread the news about the campaign by distributing pamphlets, badge clips, and chocolate bars generously donated by Mackenzies Chocolates.

“It is for the benefit of our patients, and ultimately for the betterment of our community as a whole,” says Lillian MacMinn, one of the Department Champions when asked what made her volunteer.

“The support the Dominican Hospital Foundation receives from employees is overwhelming,” says Kerry Nehls, chair of the Employee Giving Campaign and manager of the Therapy Department at Dominican Hospital. “They sit on various Foundation committees, volunteer for events, donate their time and money. I am honored to be a part of such a committed team.” The employee campaign raised more than $170,000 this year.

Sponsor Spotlight: Chaminade Resort & Spa

Chaminade Resort & Spa gives support through its continued partnership with Dominican Hospital

For the second year in a row, Chaminade Resort & Spa has donated $10,000 to the Dominican Hospital Foundation, renewing its commitment to the esteemed Annual Healthcare Sponsorship program as a partner in the hospital's future.

The Chaminade-Dominican Hospital partnership supports many projects, including the Healing Courtyards Initiative, acquiring state-of-the-art equipment, and other advancements.

“We are proud to be partnering with such an impressive organization,” says Kevin Herbst, general manager of Chaminade Resort & Spa, a Benchmark Resorts & Hotels property. “Dominican Hospital has a significant impact on the health and well-being of our community, and we look forward to continuing this relationship and supporting their ongoing contributions to the people of Santa Cruz.”

In addition to Chaminade's $10,000 donation, the resort also provides meeting space for hospital functions or board meetings when needed, as well as accommodations for visiting physicians. Because of its close proximity to the hospital, the resort offers exclusive room rates for families traveling from out of state to visit patients at Dominican Hospital.

The donation is part of Chaminade Resort & Spa and Benchmark Hospitality International's ongoing Hometown Hospitality Initiative to give back to the resort's community. Chaminade's Employee Culture Committee meets to decide on local projects to support, raising money and donating their time.

So far, Chaminade's compassionate staff and philanthropic efforts have helped CASA, United Way, the Boys & Girls Club of Santa Cruz, SPCA, and local animal shelters. During the holidays, Chaminade employees participate in a food drive for Second Harvest Food Bank. They also participate in an Adopt-A-Family program, which helps out local families in need. The resort is also the host site for many well-deserving Santa Cruz nonprofit organizations' events.

As a Benchmark property, Chaminade Resort & Spa champions the Benchmark “Be the Difference” service philosophy: The employees' and hotel's goal is to live every day, capturing service moments when they can make a difference—to a guest, to each other, to their community.

Patients Express Their Gratitude on Doctors' Day

In recognition of National Doctors' Day on March 30, many patients sent in gifts to honor their physicians along with notes of gratitude. Honored doctors received a special pin recognizing them for their excellence, as well as a spot on the Honor Wall in the hospital.

The Foundation created a video called "Grateful Doctors at Dominican Hospital," which includes multiple individuals who were honored on Doctors' Day and highlights the impact that donations make on the hospital. We invite you to view this three-minute video on our homepage at supportdominican.org.

"It's especially touching when we receive gifts from previous patients or their families because that tells me that we made a big difference in their lives," says Jennie Jet, MD, physiatrist.

"Just like you have a home sports team, this hospital is your home team," says Nick Abidi, MD, orthopedic surgeon. "The folks who work here work really hard to take care of you as patients, and any little bit you can do to help them is very, very important."

To honor your doctor, visit supportdominican.org or call 831.462.7712.

Thank you to all those who made this special gesture in recognition of these dedicated individuals.

Grateful Patients Honor Caregivers

Harry Schoenfeld and his wife, Bernardine—better known by her nickname, “Bernie”—have been married for more than 70 years. They met at Hammond Aircraft, where they both worked during World War II. After a recent stay at Dominican, the couple made a gift to Dominican Hospital Foundation, in honor of Jay Johnson, MD, and Sheila Pitfield, RN.

Bernie caught a bad case of flu that made her feel progressively worse. When she didn’t get better, Harry decided he needed to take action. “We were desperate and didn’t know what to do, so I called Dr. Johnson,” he says. “He advised me to bring Bernie to the hospital and had a team ready for us when we got there. His quickness and expertise felt very reassuring to us.”

Pitfield was one of the nurses on the unit taking care of Bernie. “All of the nurses on the unit were very nice,” says Bernie. “But Sheila went above and beyond. She made me feel so comfortable.”

When asked about how she chose her profession, Pitfield says, “I have always had a passion to care for other people.” Originally from Mississippi, Pitfield came to Santa Cruz as a traveling nurse five years ago and never left. “I love the area and all the people that I work with here at Dominican.”

“I feel like I am going to cry!” says Pitfield when she was presented with the news and a special lapel pin honoring her exceptional care. “It is so nice to be recognized by patients—no one has recognized me in this way before, and it makes me feel very special.”

Donations Coming Full Circle

Through his long and generous support, Marc Monte is helping Dominican Hospital march forward

Just like the communities of Aptos and Santa Cruz, Marc Monte's business, Deluxe Foods, has grown tremendously over the past three decades. As Deluxe Foods has become more successful, Monte has taken it upon himself to give back more and more to the communities he loves.

"The best thing about being where I am in life is the ability to give back," says Monte. "That's the best gift that I have."

Dominican Hospital is one of Monte's favorite places to give his time and resources. His ties with the hospital start with his parents, who were close with Dominican's former president, Sister Julie Hyer. Monte recently gave a considerable donation to the hospital's Healing Courtyards Initiative to have a putting green named in his parents' memory in the soon-to-be-built Rehabilitation Garden.

"My father's two favorite things in life were his business and golf, so donating to the putting green was a natural fit," says Monte.

But his donation to the Healing Courtyards Initiative is only one of many that Monte has given over the years. One of his family's generous donations helped support the hospital's Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, where a colleague's grandchildren received care.

Marc Monte and his family are longtime supporters of Dominican Hospital.

"She had tears in her eyes when she came to the office to let me know that her grandchildren were being treated by the special equipment that I helped purchase for the hospital," says Monte. "To have it come full circle like that is the most rewarding thing."

In the future, Monte hopes he can keep supporting the community and Dominican Hospital.

"I want the best possible hospital we can have in Santa Cruz," Monte says.

Physician Philanthropy

The physicians' Pteron Society gathers at Driscoll's Cassin Ranch

The Pteron Society gathered on June 24 at Driscoll's Cassin Ranch for its biannual event. Through Driscoll's generosity, guests enjoyed fantastic food, a magnificent venue, and a fascinating program.

"We are excited to welcome this exceptional group and help recognize the generosity of physicians who work at Dominican. We were also glad to be able to share a little bit of what we do to provide our community with berries that are delicious and healthy," says Mike Hollister, senior vice president of sales at Driscoll's and Dominican Hospital Foundation board member.

Started by Dr. Bill Hess, the Pteron Society is a special physicians' giving society formed to support Dominican Hospital's projects. Dr. Hess, now retired, was a guest at the event. "It is great to see the strides made by the hospital in the last decade. A lot of this was made possible by private support, and I am proud to see the physician involvement," says Dr. Hess.

As a special treat, guests took home a sampler box of berries, also generously donated by Driscoll's.

Pteron members pledge an annual gift of $1,200 or more to the Foundation. For more information or to become a member, please call Beverly Grova at 831.462.7712 or email Beverly.Grova@DignityHealth.org.
